

Let your exhibits tell their own stories

ABOVE: At the 1793 Dale/Engle/Walker House in Lewisburg, PA, Signal-Innova's audio stations take visitors back in time more than 200 years.

BELOW: The story of the Fremont Indians' pithouse homes is presented using an audio station at the Fremont Indian State Park and Museum in Utah.

Signal-Innova's 12X12 Audio Stations are tireless story tellers customized for your venue:

- Durable high pressure laminate graphic panel with your titles, text and labels. Custom graphics help illustrate your story.
- Visitors press pushbutton(s) to start the audio messages (suggested maximum of 4 pushbuttons).
- Audio can be heard over an external speaker or individual handset.
- FlashAudio digital player is enclosed in the sturdy 12" x 12" x 4" housing. The unit arrives fully assembled and ready to install.
- Painted steel post for floor mounting
